Back to school

City approves liquor store

BELLE GLADE-The Belle Glade City Commission granted Tom Bonavia's request to build a liquor store in the city, mainly to the dismay of members of the Community United Methodist Church and the Masonic Lodge, who voiced their disapproval in the matter at the Commission meeting Monday night, August 26.

Bonavia's original request a few weeks ago of running a liquor store selling take out beer and frozen drinks was not approved by the commission. The commission's approval allows Bonavia to operate a package store without consumption of alcohol on the premises.

The property's location, in the vicinity of S. Main Street and SE Avenue D, and reasoning behind another liquor store in Belle Glade, were some of the arguments presented by those who disapproved.

Some said they felt the package store was too close to the school and also the Community United Methodist Church.

Others also said that a liquor store was out of place on Main Street.

"We've got enough of a reputation with AIDS, we don't need something on Main Street to be pushing elements around," said one citizen.

Someone else commented that it was just a place for "misdeeds" and that it would add to the cost of maintaining order in Belle Glade.

There was also a question concerning the distance of the package store by the members of the Methodist Church.

Members claimed the package store had to be at least 100 feet away from their church, but Mayor Tom Altman assured them the correct distance was 300 ft., which had been measured by Belle Glade Chief of Police Mike Miller.

"We're not here to uphold the fact that liquor is good or bad. Liquor is legal and proper zoning is in place," said Bonavia. "To discuss if Belle Glade doesn't need another liquor store is what we're here for."

After an hour discussion, Altman said that the impact surrounding the property was "way unfair and much overexaggerated."

"Our job is to do what is right, sometimes that's not what the majority wants," Altman added.

Commission voted 4-1 in favor of the package store.

In other matters, the commission voted 4-1 to use $100,000 from the Special Law Enforcement Trust Fund Expenditure to buy a special VCR system to videotape for DWI cases.

Chief Mike Miller told commission that it was a request by County Judge Don T. Adams to continue on 3

Proposed budget in the works

SOUTH BAY-South Bay residents are facing a tax increase as a result of the proposed budget.

At a workshop meeting on Monday night, August 26, the proposed general budget is $948,056, up approximately $67,000 more than last year.

Figured in with the budget is an estimated $37,000 for mosquito control. Residents would be paying $2 per month for the mosquito control program.

South Bay City Manager Lomax Harrelle, said that the mosquito control program was something new this year for residents, but he thinks residents will pay the $24 yearly fee.

Harrelle pointed out that in the past when the city had to deal with mosquito infestations, helicopters were called in to spray, and the spraying couldn't continue unless money was budgeted for it.

Also being reviewed by commissioners is a $792,319 utility budget, as is a federal revenue-sharing budget, estimated at $86,000, to renovate the radios being used by the Police, Fire, and Public Works, a cost totaling $35,000. Harrelle said he hopes to modernize the radios used by the city because this might just be the last year the city could obtain federal revenue sharing money.

Harrelle also hopes to invest in a new trash truck and truck for the city, just in case the city doesn't receive any revenue sharing monies next year.

Another item in the proposed budget included a 5 percent pay raise for each city employee.

Harrelle said City Finance Director Monica Bryson is requesting a $50 increase because of her new position.

Evangelist speaks about AIDS

BELLE GLADE-Rev. Moody Adams, evangelist minister, came to the First Baptist Church in Belle Glade Tuesday, August 27 to speak about AIDS, an issue which has put a black mark on Belle Glade.

"I'm here to defend Belle Glade," said Adams, who asked to be made an honorary member of the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce. "When I was being interviewed about the subject of AIDS, I talked about San Francisco, but someone would always ask me about the AIDS in Belle Glade, Florida."

Adams said the media and liberal press were to blame for turning a black eye on Belle Glade.

He said at first, the media tried to "smoke screen" the problem of AIDS, by stating that "it wasn't anything to panic about".

"Now the headlines from Life Magazine are saying 'Now no one is safe,'" said Adams.

Adams added that Life picked Belle Glade to have the highest AIDS rate per capita in the nation.

"I've got news for them. This past July, 46 people died in San Francisco from AIDS. There are only 40 AIDS cases in Belle Glade," said Adams.

Homosexuality, intravenous drug users, prostitution, and mosquitoes have been considered as the carriers of AIDS, Adams said, but his theory is the source of AIDS is traceable to homosexuality, spread through excretions and secretions.

"I like to lay it at the feet of homosexuals rather than Belle Glade," he said, blaming also a dishonest press which protected homosexuality. "We have a nation which preserves trees, the air and birds. It seems the nation isn't interested in preserving natural sex," he said.

Sexual promiscuity, noted Adams is the leading spread of AIDS.

"Approximately one million Americans are carrying AIDS and the cases are doubling each month," said Adams. "It takes a couple of years to kill you. We don't have a long time."

"Thou shall not commit adultery are the five words that can stop the spread of AIDS," he added.

Adams told how AIDS fits into the Bible.

"The first chapter of Romans, which nobody seems to understand, comes clear when related to AIDS," he said.

Adams pointed out that AIDS was the downfall of Rome in the days of Apostle Paul.

"As the wrath of God was felt back then, it is felt today."

"God has just had enough," said Adams. "We have a tremendous obligation to get the gospel out for three reasons: 1)Delay can result in dead bodies, 2)The enslaved will never be free, and 3)A hardened heart can never be saved."

Juvenile faces sexual battery charges

BELLE GLADE-The child was taken to the doctor and the infection was confirmed Thursday, August 22, ed at which time the suspect was identified.

An investigation is now under way to determine how this child got infected. According to police, the infection was contracted by the child when he was taken to the doctor and the infection was confirmed.

The mother of the victim was unaware that this battery had occurred until she noticed that the child had an infection.

The youth was sent to the Division of Youth Services in West Palm Beach to await the first appearance.

Man charged with sexual molestation

SOUTH BAY-A 39 year old South Bay man was arrested by Palm Beach County detectives last Thursday in connection with charges of three counts of sexual battery on his three daughters, which, according to court records, had been occurring for the past ten years.

Detective Cliff Simonds said the man was placed in the county jail under a $20,000 bond, following taped statements by the daughters.

Simonds said the girls suffered no apparent physical injuries.

The man went in front of Judge Don T. Adams, Friday. Adams refused to accept a bond reduction, and appointed the defendant an attorney.

The name of the father was withheld to protect the identity of the girl.

Housing improvements topic of discussion by Glades officials

BELLE GLADE-Belle Glade, Pahokee, and South Bay officials got together with Allen Schnier, County Housing and Community Development Director, to discuss housing improvements in the Glades with an expected $5 million of county money.

"The purpose of this meeting is to ask the input from different city's as to the types of projects and areas where it needs to be and put it into a plan for the community to endorse," said Belle Glade Mayor Tom Altman at the Aug. 22 Glades Area Housing Committee meeting.

In front of each official representing their respective cities was a list of eleven criteria to be used in evaluating proposals for funding, and financing alternatives which were to be discussed and adopted that evening.

A leverage factor was one of the major criteria considerations for the projects. The county money put up for the projects would be matched with private money.

One of the criteria considered was the past track record of the developer including the proposal from the developer, a proposed description of the project, the proposed financing plan, the extent to which public funds stay in the public sector, upfront money deferred to later years to get more projects started, consideration of cost-effectiveness issues of rehabilitation versus demolition and the purchase of land should be continued on 3

Schnier said that the financial arrangements and criteria adopted by the committee must be first reviewed and approved by the commissioners and county attorney.

"We may have financing techniques still in the gray area," said Schnier.

Schnier also told the committee that they have six weeks to put the viable project proposals together before it will be presented to the board of county commissioners.

He added that the commission would look at the nature and quality of each project, and evaluate them with comment and input from the committee.

City commissioners, who voted to give themselves a $100 a month raise increase last year, are grossing $8,700 a year and the mayor is receiving a yearly salary of $4,700.

Glades hope to receive $8 million

BELLE GLADE-Plans for a proposed $75 million beach bond issue for Palm Beach County may mean $6-$8 million of recreation development money for the Glades.

Ken Adams, Palm Beach County Commissioner, told city officials at a prior Tri-City League meeting that while he was striving for $6-$8 million to be allocated for recreational development in the Glades area.

Adams had said if a good recreational development plan for the Glades can be presented to the other county commissioners, he believes it will be supportive of the funding.

At the Tri-City League meeting, Thursday, Aug. 22, Glades officials from South Bay, Belle Glade, and Pahokee each revealed their proposed recreational improvements for their respective cities.

Pahokee Councilman Ronnie Graydon said that Pahokee is asking for $3.5 million for campsite improvements and "to bring the marina back up to where it should be."

Belle Glade proposed to spend $2.5 million to improve the city's municipal campground and parking space.

A $2.7 million recreational vehicle park is South Bay's proposal. The park would be located on Pahokee's north side, next to the Herbert Hoover Dike.

Walter Rashey, aid to Commissioner Adams, told city leaders that Adams would like one recreational proposal instead of three.

He said that if there were two bond issues, it may not pass by county commissioners.

Pahokee councilman, John Norman, countered by saying one project proposal would be unfair and that the county doesn't look at geographical location.

Norman suggested to Rashey that if he needed one large project to call it "Lake Okeechobee," therefore including all three cities.

He also added that if the three projects are not possible, to find out why this cannot be done.

Belle Glade Mayor Tom Altman asked Rashey why the recreational money allocated for the Glades had to be spent in one location, since the county was planning to buy beachfront in several places.

Altman urged Rashey to go to Adams and request to go with the projects for each city.

He also added that if the projects were not possible, for Rashey to find out the reason why.

Businesses can work hand in hand with detectives with forged checks

By ERIC KOPP

BELLE GLADE--"So many times businessmen won't take the time to get the proper information on a check, and that can make it next to impossible for us to help," said Cliff Simonds of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office.

Simonds was making reference to the fact that Florida State Statutes require businesses, or anyone keeping a check from another party, to have the date of birth of the writer, and their height and weight on the back of the check.

Simonds said that the law requires this information on the back of the checks, and without it personal recognition may not be enough for prosecution.

He said the sheriff's office has worked check cases that range in value amounts from $5, into the thousands of dollars.

The detective said this time of year is the worst because of the lack of work for the people in the Glades area.

He said since the first of the year, detectives at the substation have worked 91 cases, ranging from insufficient funds to closed accounts, and forgery.

Liquor store robbed

BELLE GLADE-clerk in order to steal Johnny D. Lewis, 24, of the money from the Apt. 66, Oseola Center, Belle Glade, faces strong armed robbery and grand theft charges for allegedly robbing Everglades Liquors.

The suspect had entered the store and made a purchase, when he noticed that the register drawer was open.

According to police report, Everglades Liquors was robbed by an unknown black man into the tray, grabbed the money, and attempted to flee. Ms. Lewis was transported to the Palm Beach County Jail under a $3,000 bond.

Two Belle Glade youths arrested for throwing firebombs

BELLE GLADE-Two juveniles were arrested Tuesday, August 20, for throwing fire bombs at a police car.

According to police report, Sergeant Ray Carrigan, Jr. was in the process of removing several juveniles from the area of the Alabama, Georgia Store at approximately 12:35 a.m. for violation of curfew when two juveniles apparently threw two fire bombs at his patrol unit, then

"Surprisingly, very few of our cases are forged. We've even worked cases where checks were written on accounts that have been closed for several years," said Simonds.

He related cases where the writer of a check stopped payment because they weren't satisfied with the product or workmanship.

"Even though they weren't happy with the product or whatever, by stopping payment of the check like that, they are in criminal violation of the law," he said.

Simonds said people sometimes become irritated with the detectives because they cannot handle their worthless check case right away.

"We're different from our department on the coast, where they have three full time detectives who do nothing but work bad check cases.

"Out here we sometimes have to put a check case at the back of our work files because some other cases have priority, such as murder and burglaries," stated Simonds.

Simonds offered these hints on taking checks:

1. ask for the writer's driver's license, or some type of formal identification, even if it's a birth certificate.

2. be sure you have taken a check from that person before.

3. pay attention to actions of the writer, such as nervousness;

4. stay away from three party checks, and;

5. do not accept a check from a party who the check doesn't belong to, particularly those such as government checks.

If you should receive a bad check, state law requires the person be notified by registered mail of the worthless document.

After their receipt of the notice they have seven days in which to reply or make the check good.

If the writer fails to do so a warrant will be issued for their arrest on misdemeanor charges unless the document is over $50, which then becomes a felony offense.

Simonds also advises that if a bad check is received, notify them immediately. He said they have had people bring in checks that were so old, the Statute of Limitations had almost gone into effect.

Also, by waiting that long it's a good chance it cannot be collected because of the writer having moved away.

Taking it from the top.

Asking in the Lord's name

From the beginning of time man has called upon a higher being for help. Either out of superstition or fear, man has sought to talk to gods and later to a god. The Hebrew people were unique because they narrowed their worship and communication to one God, Jehovah. In our Christian belief we believe that Jehovah shows Himself as Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. Jesus Christ the Son says to us, "Ask anything of the Father. He will give it to you in my name." Does this mean that God, the Father, stands ready as a celestial messenger boy to run at our beck and call? The words of Jesus are simple but most profound. What lies behind this great declaration?

Jesus says "Ask!" To ask the proper question or to pray we must have knowledge of God, His plan and how we fit into this plan as well as what is good for us. It is important that we realize God is sovereign of the universe who has operated according to a plan which is all-inclusive. This plan includes not only you and me, but also our capabilities and frailties.

At this time Jesus was telling his disciples of his forthcoming death, he also told that the Holy Spirit would come as counselor, and as one who would stand beside The Holy Spirit, serve as our guide and even give us the words to speak in prayer.

What are we to pray? Scattered throughout the Bible we find the elements of prayer. In Psalm 51 we find the heartfelt confession of David in which he saw the greatness of his sin that violated the home of Uriah and Bathsheba. Confession is the reaction of man coming into the presence of God—it is the expression of unwholesomeness. Our prayers are to be with thanksgiving (Phil. 4:6) since we have received much grace from our heavenly father. In life and death we can give thanks to God, as Job does (1:21).

The first thing which we ought to do upon coming into an experience of worship whether a church or a place of quiet communion with God, is to adore God. (Phil. 2:3-11) We will bow our knees and hearts and confess Jesus as Lord.

There are other things we can do but come as little children to ask for help. We petition God for general and specific assistance. (Daniel 9:18).

Jesus says, "Ask in my name." Jesus Christ has become the mediator and advocate. He serves as go-between and conciliator of the contract which God established with us, His people.

As one who has been to the cross bearing his sins, he prends our cause before God.

When we ask in Christ's name, we acknowledge Him as the Son of God and our prayers become Trinitarian. We pray to God the Father in the name of the Son who made the sacrifice for us, and by the Holy Spirit we know for what to ask.

Finally, Jesus says, we are to ask in faith. That we ask implies we believe in God. This means we trust in God's plan and God's love. Our faith at best is small, but the more we pray to God and trust in Him, the more it will grow. Because God has been faithful to his people for thousands of years. He is not going to change. He is faithful now as many of us can testify. God is eager to answer our prayers (Matt. 7:7). Ask, but ask in faith. By doing, one implies that one believes that God is good and His ultimate goal is good. This is hard when tragedy strikes—these are times of testing.

Asking in faith means that we are prepared to let God answer our prayer in His own way and time. The answer may be direct, as in the case when Peter healed Dorcas (Acts 9:40). Many times the answer may be delayed to be sure we want what we ask for. Perhaps we need to see God's answer to our request to realize the wrong thing. Let God answer our prayers with a 'no'. Yet, many times our prayers come true in God's time and in a much greater way than we prayed for.

Ask in the faith of little children but with the wisdom given by the guidance of the Holy Spirit. Ask in faith in God's love shown in Jesus Christ. Ask, trusting in God's plan for us all. Ask in the name of Christ in faith.

HITS & MISSES

Bill Doughty

We're everywhere

In the delightful comedy movie "Moscow on the Hudson," Robin Williams, playing a Russian defector, was heard to remark, "America is wonderful place. Everybody here from someplace else."

This seems especially true in Florida. On either coast, it's extremely hard to find native Floridians. While in the Glades it's much easier to find people who have been born here. I'm still struck by the number of immigrants from California.

I'm even more amazed during my travels at the continually growing number of people who I meet from my hometown of Pittsburgh.

It started the day I arrived in Clewiston last November. I was immediately introduced to Bob, the reporter for the Glades County Democrat. Bob was raised five minutes from where my mother lives.

A few months later, a new reporter arrived for our LaBelle paper. Rick just happened to be from a place not more than ten minutes from where Bob and I lived.

That may seem coincidence enough right there, but wait there's more.

Shared for our parents in the same clothing store near their respective homes. I know, because both are friends with the managers and both were talking to him about their sons who worked at small weekly newspapers near Lake Okeechobee. The manager, while no doubt confused, put two and two together and realized that we worked in the same place and mentioned it to my mother.

Now it seems that Bob's father is also a mail carrier. Guess who he has on his route? None other than Rick's parents! Talk about a small world.

The saga continues. Just recently, the Clewiston Health Care Center got a new head administrator, a very nice lady by the name of Kay Cline. Well, she just happens to be from a community right near all three of our families (Bob, Rick and mine—you can't tell the players without a score card).

She doesn't know any of our families, but she did attend the same nursing school as a former girlfriend of mine.

These meetings happen at least once a month. A lot of teachers seem to have wandered down from "The Burgh," and I'm continually meeting them. Just this morning as I was taking pictures at the Clewiston Elementary School, I met a guy who lived in the town next to mine and who graduated from the same college I did.

A few months ago, one of the delivery men who pass through here that he too was from Pittsburgh. Even one of the salesmen at the automobile dealership next store calls himself near my home.

A few weekends ago, I journeyed to Tampa to watch my beloved Steelers play the Buccaneers. I was greatly worried that I would stand out like a sore thumb, that I would be a tiny speck of black and gold in a sea of orange. Not so.

My seats were smack dab in the middle of Steeler's rooting section. I felt like I was back in Three Rivers Stadium. All around were folks with Steeler paraphernalia, shirts advertising familiar (and well-visited) local taverns, as well as home brewed Iron City beer.

"You guys" better watch out, cause we're starting to band together. If steel mills start to pop up around here, you'll know the takeover has begun.

It's history now...

High death toll expected

The Florida Highway Patrol predicts that 30 other vacation spots will be lost due to traffic accidents over the 73-day Labor Day period. Some will not return home, but begins 6:00 p.m. Friday during a traffic accident, August 30, and ends midnight Monday, September 2.

Colonel Bobby R. Burkett, patrol director, stated, "Many will result in 21 traffic related deaths. Of long weekend to travel those, 12 (57 percent) were alcohol-related. In comparison, 46 percent of all traffic accidents that occurred during 1984 were alcohol-related, indicating the incidence of drinking and driving is greater during holiday periods. Additionally, 12 of the 21 people who died were under 30 years of age. Only one person was wearing a seat belt. Citizens are requested to assist us in this effort by reporting any impaired driver they observe to the nearest Florida Highway Patrol Station or local law enforcement agency. I sincerely hope this will be a much less tragic holiday period than we anticipate," concluded Burkett.

Yule decorations for South Bay

Buying Christmas decorations for South Bay is the first project planned by the South Bay Beautification Committee.

The Beautification Committee held their first meeting of the Christmas decoration fund. The decorations will be put up in the center of town.

Present at the meeting were Dorothy Davis, chairperson, Betty Boyer, vice chairperson, Virginia Walker, secretary/treasurer, Iris Tanner, and Linda Cone.

Anyone interested in donating to the Christmas fund, call Virginia Walker at South Bay City Hall.

Fishing report

Compliments of Tennessee's Pro Guide Service

TENNESSEE

Fishing this week is a little less productive due to the weather changes, high winds and "hot" afternoons. But some people can catch fish in a "snow storm," including myself along with guide party of Harold Jorgensen and friend Magie had five real nice fish up to 5 lbs. Also guide party of Mark Mikoff and John Duerr had ten good solid fish up to 3 1/2 lbs.

Tommy Sellers, WPB, and Steve McKinley had some good fish to 5 lbs. on Gold Rapala. Sam and Slim's Jack Lance and Pat have had some real decent fish this week, mostly early morning. Don Hughes and Joyce had a limit 20 fish Sunday, an hour before dark on top water lures.

Specks are doing real well this time of year. Almost the same pattern as they did four years ago. Jigs in the early morning, green yellow, red and minnows at night. I have caught close to 100 this week — all "slabs" in the 3 1/2-to-1-lb. range. Several avid speckle good luck fishing this week.

Poly Williams had a limit of bass on some "ugly" worms. Over at

New pastor at Alliance Church

BELLE GLADE The Belle Glade Alliance Church has a new pastor, Rev. Jerry L. Brown has taken over the ministry of the church.

Rev. Brown pastored the Ft. Pierce Alliance Church for six years before coming to the Glades. He and his wife

Jan have two children, seven year old Russell and 12 year old Amy.

The Browns recently began at the Belle Glade Alliance Church for approximately four weeks. Before pastoring the Ft. Pierce church, Rev. Brown said he was an assistant pastor in Atlanta, Ga.

He said his father was a minister and he has been in church work all of his life. He enjoys music and plans to take an active part in the church music.

Rev. Brown is a graduate of Bob Jones University in Greenville, South Carolina.

He said he enjoys the Belle Glade area and likes the people. He said he sees a lot of good possibilities here for growth.

The Belle Glade Alliance Church is located at 425 East Main Street North. Sunday School starts at 9:45 a.m. and Morning Worship at 11 a.m.

The Sunday evening services start at 7:30 p.m. and Wednesday service is at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. Brown said he is looking forward to meeting the people of the community. He cordially invites everyone to attend the church services.

Dolly Hand opens new season

BELLE GLADE—The Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center is pleased to announce their 1985 fall series, entitled "Take Note!"

Kicking off the series, on Thursday, September 12, will be singer Gary Morris.

Morris, who was named Male Vocalist of the Year in 1984, will be singing songs such as "Baby Bye Bye". They will also feature

"Lasso the Moon", "Second Hand Heart", and also "The Wind Beneath My Wings", which was honored as the Song of the Year.

On October 12, The Suncoast Chorus from Mt. Dora, Florida, which won first place in the 1984 Florida Chorus Competition, will present a program of four-part harmony, barbershop style.

They will also feature a collection of Nat King Cole selections.

Two weeks later, on October 24, The United States Air Force Reserve Band, will be playing a variety of tunes from Bach to Turk 40 to such patriotic songs including "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Also featured that evening is a special showpiece unit of the Air Force garbed in tradittional Scottish uniforms and a 7 piece combo playing New Orleans jazz.

The Hippodrome, the Suncoast Professional Theatre out of Gainesville, will be presenting "The Middle Ages", a fast moving comical play written by A.R. Gurney, Jr.

from 1946 to the present day and age.

The fall season will close on Wednesday, December 18, with the famous Charles Dickens Christmas tale, "A Christmas Carol".

Series tickets for this great season are $40 per reserved seat and can be purchased up until the Gary Morris performance.

Family Dollar store to open in Belle Glade next week

CHARLOTTE, NC — The 6th Family Dollar store in Florida and the 931st in the fast-growing North Carolina based discount store chain will open in Belle Glade, Thursday, September 5.

The new store, located in Glades,

Plaza, 551 SW 16th St., will open at 10 a.m. Local officials and Family Dollar executives will take part in a brief ribbon cutting ceremony at the main entrance to the store immediately before the opening. The company expects a large crowd to attend the ribbon cutting and take advantage of the special Grand Opening sale prices afterward.

Jim Seagraves, senior vice president of Store Operations, said, "Family Dollar looks forward to locating in Belle Glade and being part of a fine business market." Jim Griffin, the firm's district manager for the area, said, "Family Dollar offers excellent employment opportunities in this area and throughout the 20 states in which our stores are located. As many local people as possible will be employed at the new store." Griffin added that Family Dollar is a rapidly expanding company and always interested in talking with management trainee candidates.

The store will carry a complete line of merchandise for the home, including clothing and shoes, health and beauty aids, housewares, school supplies, candy, toys, paint and auto supplies.

Family Dollar was founded in 1959 with a single store in Charlotte, NC, and today has more than 5,964,263 square feet of total sales space in the chain's 931 stores. Indiana, Missouri and The company The General offices and distribution center are located in Georgia, Mississippi, Charlotte, Alabama, Florida, Family Dollar Tennessee, Virginia, Stores, Inc., is a public West Virginia, by held company with Maryland, Arkansas, common stock traded Louisiana, Kentucky, on the New York Stock Delaware, New Jersey, Exchange under the Pennsylvania, Ohio, symbol "FDO."

About work at home kits

Question:

I saw an ad this week in a local newspaper about making extra money at home by addressing envelopes. It said all I'd need to do was purchase a small kit containing the necessary supplies and in no time I'd be making up to $200 a week in the comfort of my own living room. Is this for real?

Answer:

What you saw was a common scheme for "work at home" and your best bet would be to ignore the claims of easy profit. Many times the only easy profit is made by the company which sells innocent people kits promoted in the sales pitch.

A typical scheme works like this: the company solicits "employees" through newspaper ads which claim something-for-almost nothing return on your money.

You can buy a kit for addressing envelopes or for stuffing envelopes (even the nontypists aren't immune) or at Christmas time — decorating envelopes, etc.

If you buy a kit, you either never hear from the company again, or you get your kit with instructions on how to use it for profit. Many times the profit is merely a veiled pyramid scheme. What these companies are really doing is selling you a way to do others what they have just done to you.

In another type of scheme, New York promoters, to set up their customers in their own mail order business from the company for their homes. For investments averaging several hundred dollars, they received a supply of "proven" circulars advertising one of the promoter's books (on how to run an apartment brokerage business), envelopes, and a "guaranteed" list of mail order buyers. The promoter claimed all the housewives had to do was stuff the circulars in the envelopes, affix the preaddressed labels, and wait for the money to roll in. He guaranteed his victims,

New Physicians open offices

Two new physicians announce the opening of offices in Belle Glade, adding to the list of medical specialists available to residents of the Glades.

Edward R. Becker, MD, has opened an office in the Memorial Wing of Glades General Hospital, 1201 S. Main St., for the practice of adult and pediatric urology and prosthetics. He comes to Belle Glade from Jacksonville where he was a member of the staff of University Hospital, an affiliate of Florida.

V.S. Sundaram, MD, has announced the opening of an office in the Memorial Wing for the treatment of ear, nose, throat, head and neck problems. He was previously a member of the staff of Lenox Hill Hospital in New York City, where he was a senior fellow in otolaryngology.

Becker is the first physician to bring to Glades General the capability of performing penile implants in the treatment of male impotence. A relatively new development in medical technology, an implant of a prosthesis, as it is called, can enable a man suffering from organic impotence to resume sexual intercourse.

Organic impotence, Becker explained, is the inability to achieve an erection due to disease or physical disability. The condition is usually associated with cardiovascular and neurological diseases and diabetes.

"The success rate [of prostheses] is very high," Becker said. "Patients tell us they are very satisfied. Physical sensations and performance are restored to normal and ejaculation is achieved."

Sundaram brings to the Glades a background in otolaryngology spanning three continents. His training has taken him from India to Ireland, the United Kingdom and the United States.

Although nasal infections and tonsillectomies are to be the most common cases seen by ear, nose and throat specialists, Sundaram has had extensive experience in head and neck cancer surgery, removal of polyps from the nose and vocal cords, treatment of allergies, and treatment of ear injuries.

Through the use of a bronchoscope, Sundaram will be able to screen for early signs of cancer and other treatments can be taken.

Office hours for Drs. Becker and Sundaram are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Blue cross blue shield to cut rates next month

TALLAHASSEE - Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter has approved a rate reduction for Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Florida which will cut premiums up to 17 percent for more than 250,000 Medicare supplement policyholders beginning next month. "This rate reduction is amazing news for Florida's senior citizens," Gunter said. "It means a savings of $13.5 million for Medicare supplement policyholders. This is the company's first rate reduction for Medicare spiraling medical costs, it must be considered an historic event when a company lowers its rates. I hope it is a sign of things to come in all lines of health insurance."

And after years of negotiations between supplement policies since 1969, rates were not increased for these policies this year.

And company officials said if current trends continue, they do not expect a rate increase before the end of 1986.

"We are excited that the trend of annual rate increases has been halted," said Bob Cunningham, vice president of direct marketing for Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Florida. "If there are no major changes in the Medicare program beyond what we are anticipate and health care cost trends remain stable, we expect to hold to these reduced rates through the end of 1986."

Medical costs increased at a pace twice the rate of inflation in the late 1970s. Gunter said, and insurance premiums increased as a result. He said the establishment of the Hospital Cost Containment Board in 1979 was an initial step in holding down medical costs by enforcing controls on charges by hospitals in all areas of the state.

As a result of 1984 legislation the Hospital Cost Containment Board reviews hospital budgets and has rejected unusual price increases. Gunter said the Blue Cross Blue Shield rate decrease is in line with recent estimates that hospital costs will increase by only 7 percent in 1985, compared with 14.4 percent in 1984 and 19.2 percent in 1983.

"I attribute this good news to a combination of factors, including restrictions on the cost of Medicare claims, efforts by the Florida Hospital Containment Board to stabilize hospital budgets, increased competition and consumer awareness, and the overall inflation rate," Gunter said. "If consumers, public officials, health care providers and the insurance industry continue to work together to hold down medical costs, perhaps other companies will be able to lower rates like Blue Cross-Blue Shield has done today."

Policyholders will receive an information kit about the rate decrease through the mail before the end of this month. The decrease takes effect September 1, 1985, and is based on the area of the state in which the policyholder lives. Policyholders in Southeast Florida, for example, will receive a 4 percent rate decrease, while medical ex-emergencies are higher in that area than the rest of the state. Rates for policyholders in the central part of the state will be cut 17 percent.

Quick pizza casserole

Bill Doughty is the Managing Editor for six weekly papers including The Clewiston News, The Belle Glade Herald, The Glades County Democrat, The Calusa Belle, The Pahokee

Observer, and the Sunday Glades Trend. Doughty says with his hectic schedule, he can only prepare something quick and eat it on the run.

Ingredients

1 pound ground beef
1 (14 ounce) jar pizza sauce
2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese
1 package sliced pepperoni
1/2 cup sliced green pepper (can adjust to taste)

1/4 cup biscuit mix
1 1/2 cups milk
2 eggs

Cook ground beef in a skillet over medium heat until browned, stirring to crumble. Drain off pan drippings.

Spoon beef into an 8 inch square baking dish. Top with pizza sauce, pepperoni, green peppers, and cheese. Combine biscuit mix, milk, and eggs; beat until smooth. Pour mixture over casserole, covering evenly. Bake at 400° for 30-35 minutes. Yield 6 servings.

Fruit salad bar

This time of year a "fruit salad bar" is a colorful, irresistible addition to a buffet table. Arrange a variety of assorted fruits on separate plates and add a small container of fresh, new, improved real fruit yogurt for dressing.

Still all 100 percent natural, the new, improved yogurt has more and bigger chunks of real fruit and a thick, satisfying texture, just right as part of a quick lunch and perfect as a fruit salad dressing. To serve as a dressing, just stir until the fruit is well blended.

• Dip cut bananas, peaches, apples, pears and nectarines in lemon juice to retard darkening. Other citrus juices, pineapple juices and the syrup from canned fruit may be substituted for lemon juice.

• Select citrus fruits and pineapple that feel heavy in relation to size; they will be juicy.

• Do not wash or hull strawberries until just before serving.

• Navel oranges are the easiest to use for slicing and sectioning.

• The leaves at the top of the pineapple pull out easily when the fruit is ripe.

• Soft fruits, such as berries, keep better if spread out on a flat surface—such as a tray—in the refrigerator.

Myths about nutrition

Old beliefs die hard, especially when it comes to eating.

Over the years many people have accumulated myths about food and eating habits from their families, from what they read or from their own experience. The American Heart Association Food Festival, being held this week, has been designed to bring nutritional information to the public.

Here are some popular myths about food and the facts about each:

1. MYTH: It is impossible to lose weight if you travel or eat out frequently.

FACT: Meal options approved by the American Heart Association can be found in some restaurants, hotels and even airplanes. To reduce portion size, choose appetizers as the main course, order à la carte or share food with a companion. Order dressings and sauces on the side. Look for items on the menu that signify low-fat preparation, such as steamed, poached and broiled. Avoid foods that are buttery, buttered, fried, creamed, "in its own gravy" or in hollandaise or cream sauce. Ask for low-fat and non-fat dairy products and margarine instead of butter. Trim visible fat from meat and remove skin from poultry.

2. MYTH: Overweight individuals eat more because they are hungrier.

FACT: People who are overweight begin with the same appetite as those who are not overweight. Overeating may come from a genetic hormone disorder, but most overweight individuals eat out of habit or psychological need.

3. MYTH: Carbohydrates should be avoided, especially if you are trying to lose weight because they are high in calories.

FACT: Not all foods high in carbohydrates are high in calories. Complex carbohydrates, found in vegetables, beans, cereals and some fruits, contain essential nutrients with the calories. Simple carbohydrates found in refined sugars contain primarily calories, no nutrients.

4. MYTH: Nonfat creamers are better for your health than cream.

FACT: Although the American Heart Association recommends using low-fat and non-fat foods rather than whole dairy products, beware of most imitation dairy products, including nonfat creamers. Many of these contain coconut oil, a highly saturated fat, as a substitute for butterfat.

5. MYTH: All vegetable oils and shortening are healthy in polyunsaturates.

FACT: Not all vegetable oils are unsaturated. Certain vegetable oils, such as palm and coconut oil are high in saturated fats. You will find these primarily in commercially baked goods such as cookies and candies.

6. MYTH: Children can eat what they want because they are unaffected by the dangers of atherosclerosis.

FACT: Dietary changes begun in childhood and maintained for a lifetime may reduce the risk of heart disease, since atherosclerosis (a build-up of cholesterol and other fats in the arteries) often begins in youth and progresses through young adulthood. It also seems that "mild" or "early" atherosclerosis, detected in younger patients, may be more likely to regress than advanced disease would. The American Heart Association recommends a prudent modification of diet in healthy children over the age of two years through adolescence and into their adulthood.

For more information on eating away from home, other other nutrition subjects, contact your local Heart Association office — 655-8155 (Greater West Palm Beach areas), 394-0170 (South County), or 286-1966 (Martin County).

Since 1908, my family has been in the chicken business and, like everyone, we eat lots of chicken. Not only is chicken nutritious, low in calories and inexpensive, but there are so many ways to prepare our tasty yellow birds.

One of my family's favorites, especially when the weather gets warmer, is my Barbecue Chick-A-Vin. The tangy zest of my special sauce will sure be a hit around your house this season.

Cathi's Barbecue Chick-A-Vin

6 pounds of your favorite Cookin' Good chicken or roasted parts.
1/4 cup lemon or lime juice
1/4 cup white wine
1/4 cup Teriyaki sauce
1/2 cup oil
2 cloves garlic
1 small onion, minced
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning

Combine all ingredients except chicken in a large container. Place chicken in marinade mixture and marinate at least 4 hours (preferably overnight).

Place parts on a prepared charcoal grill or over a medium gas grill. Grill about 35-40 minutes, basting often with marinade and turning every 5 minutes.

Smaller parts such as the wings and legs will cook faster and may be placed to the outside of the grill to avoid overcooking.

Chicken is done when the meat is tender and pulls away from the bone. Serves 6-8.

MICROWAVE TIP: Chicken may be precooked in the microwave 10 minutes, reducing grill time to 15-20 minutes.

Make sure your canned foods are safe to eat

Now that you're using those homegrown vegetables that you canned so carefully last season, you'll want to continue to follow precautionary measures to prevent their contamination by bacteria. Before you even taste homecanned vegetables or homecanned meats or poultry boil them carefully, advises Arlen Jones, Palm Beach County Extension Home Economist. Bring them to a rolling, seething boil, then cover the pan and continue boiling 10 minutes before tasting.

Also examine and smell canned foods for spoilage. Never taste homecanned foods taken from jars or cans that show damage such as cracks or loose or bulging lids. Never taste foods from cans that spurted liquid when opened or that give off abnormal odors. Heating food generally makes any spoilage more evident. If, during heating, any food appears to be bad, have it off the dinner table of it out of reach of humans, pets or livestock. That's the safest way, says Jones.

Each year more than two million people in the United States suffer ill effects from foodborne bacteria. Fortunately relatively few people in this country are exposed to the most dangerous foodborne disease we know about — botulism — which results from toxin produced by bacteria called Clostridium botulism.

Once called "saffrage poisoning" in Germany, botulism is dangerous. In the U.S. in this century, for every 100 persons found to have ingested the botulism toxin, 56 died.

Since 1925, about 700 Americans have died as a result of eating botulism-contaminated foods canned or otherwise prepared at home. By contrast, fewer than a dozen botulism deaths have implicated foods processed by commercial manufacturers during that same period.

Most botulism poisonings in this country has been associated with improperly processed homecanned, low-acid foods such as vegetables and meats, adds Jones. There have been exceptions to the canning problem, such as when raw fish or raw meat was improperly salted or otherwise inadequately preserved or handled.

Under the microscope, botulism bacteria appear as rod-shaped microorganisms. In their inactive state, the bacteria are spores — dormant but highly resistant to heat or cold temperatures. The spores are widely found in both cultivated and forest soils, in sediments of lakes, streams and coastal waters such as bays, in the intestinal tracts of fish and mammals, including humans, and in the gills and viscera of crabs and other seafood.

Botulism spores do not produce poison until they germinate and become active or vegetate and multiply. Spores apparently do not germinate or build toxin in the adult human intestinal tract. Many are presumed destroyed in adults during routine food digestion.

Oxygen prevents botulism cells from growing, and sometimes it kills cells. But just under the surface of food, especially oxygen-free conditions may exist, and when temperatures there are favorable, the cells can vegetate and produce their poison. Anaerobic conditions are also found inside jars or cans, in vacuum packages or under a layer of grease.

After a person eats botulism toxin, botulism symptoms may occur within a few hours or as long as six or eight days later. Severity of illness may vary with the amount of food eaten. People reportedly have died after tasting only a piece of bean pod or asparagus. Human susceptibility to the toxin varies.

Early signs of botulism may be nausea, blurred vision, vomiting, abdominal cramps and diarrhea. Other symptoms include fatigue, weakness and drowsiness. The toxin paralyzes muscles by blocking certain nerve junctions. Paralysis usually starts with the eyes and face, then moves down to the throat, chest, arms and legs. If enough poison gets into the blood, the diaphragm and chest become paralyzed and the whole system suffocates unless proper medical treatment is begun.

Prompt administration of what is called "trivalent (A,B,E)" botulinal antitoxin may halt the poisoning. The antitoxin is widely available through the U.S. Public Health Service.

botulism spores must be destroyed using a steam-pressure canner with at least ten pounds of pressure — 240 degrees F. — for an appropriate time. No other way is safe."
